Earn graduate credits for attending the PAGE conference!
In cooperation with Millersville University (MU), PAGE is making a 3 credit graduate course option available for PAGE conference attendees. You have the opportunity to register for GFED 676: Teaching Gifted Learners: Instructional Strategies in conjunction with the 2017 PAGE Conference. This is one of the four courses offered at MU as part of the Gifted Endorsement. Individuals earning MU course credit are expected to attend a session in each time slot offered at the conference, attend the Thursday evening face-to-face session, and complete additional assignments and discussions in the online portion of the course (the course runs from 10/22/17-12/16/17). As part of this special offer, the application fee will be waived if you have not previously registered for a course at MU. The link to download the course registration form can be found at www.giftedpage.org. Registration questions should be directed to profdev@millersville.edu. If you have questions about the course or the Gifted Endorsement at MU, please contact Dr. Charlton Wolfgang (charlton.wolfgang@millersville.edu). Please note that registration for the course and for the PAGE Conference need to be conducted separately.
